FINE ACREAGE TO BE SUBDIVIDED; TWENTY HOMES ARE PLANNED

Mrs. Horace B. Wing Sells Property on E. Colorado; Buyers to Develop

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

THE biggest Glendale real estate deal of recent months was consummated yesterday noon when over $100,000 and twenty-two acres of choice close-in property changed hands.

The seller was Mrs. Horace B. Wing, of Los Angeles, represented by her son-in-law, Maurice Healy, the property being the old Wing homestead and acreage on East Colorado street; and the buyers were Benjamin Sheldon of Hollywood and A. G. Smith of Los Angeles.

The deal was handled through the J. E. Barney Realty company, the whole transaction being negotiated in person by Marvin Smith, a partner of Mr. Barney in the firm. Three weeks were consumed on the deal, from the initial step to the placing of the money and deed in escrow, stated Mr. Smith.

The buyers, who are both subdividers and builders of broad experience, plan to start erecting twenty houses on the property, immediately upon completion of the escrow, which will be in about two weeks. Work also will be immediately begun on grading this property and putting in all improvements.

Development Plans

The plat, which is already drawn up, shows the property to be bounded on the north by East Colorado street, on the south by East Windsor road, on the east by Porter street, and on the west by Sycamore canyon road. This latter has been accepted by the city as a 100 foot boulevard and work will start soon to make it one of the finest arteries of Glendale. To augment this boulevard, the subdividers will bisect their tract laterally with a sixty foot street connecting Colorado and Windsor, which they will name

Japan Building Most Efficient Sea Force

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—Keeping strictly within the bounds of the naval treaty signed at the Washington conference a year ago, Japan is engaged in building up her navy to a point where, unless the United States keeps pace, the 5-5-3 ratio of naval strength will be virtually nullified in a few years and Japan will have the most modern and efficient sea fighting force existent.

This, it was learned today, is the reason underlying President Harding's present request to congress for additional funds to "modernize" the American fleet, which congress now has under consideration.

Uncle John Says:

Some women seem to think that the storekeeper is always tryin' to get the best of them. They don't stop to think that most of 'em are honest men and even if they ain't honest at heart they know it ain't good business to cheat anybody. Mary says she always tries to be fair with them she trades with and maybe that has something to do with the good treatment she gets in the stores. And Mary ain't one to let anyone get the best of her either. When she ain't satisfied with a bargain she says so right to the storekeeper and has it settled then and there. She don't go around tellin' them that can't do nothin' about it.

North And South Forces In Contest On Reapportionment

By GIL A. COWAN

SAN FRANCISCO rather hastily challenged southern California's right to seek reapportionment in the legislature this session. In fact, it was not a challenge, but a defi, a denial, a repudiation of their representatives' sworn oath to uphold the constitution.

Now these northern legislators are the principals in a drama "To Have and To Hold," which bears every evidence of a fight more engrossing than Governor Richardson's economy budget. For it has been discovered that Los Angeles holds a whip which is assuming the proportions of a big stick.

That San Francisco had not thought of the initiative, through which a constitutional amendment would call for reapportionment and special election to follow the next general election, seems surprising. Perhaps the north does not appreciate the leaps and bounds made in registration in the south.

It had been the hope of southern solons that the north, which is bound to lose by lack of voting strength, would offer some compromise, which would give the minority of population even more than it was entitled. Senator Boggs' generous offer, insofar as San Francisco and the cow counties were concerned, was interpreted as the south's admission of defeat.

In that assumption the northern representatives held the fallacious attitude of victory easily achieved and now that the newspapers and public in southern California have awakened and demanded full representation do they see their error.

Southern California stands solid for reapportionment.

Southern California will represent in 1924 more than fifty per cent of voting strength of the entire state.

Los Angeles county today has approximately one-third of the actual voting electorate. Other sections of the state unfavorable to San Francisco's continued domination, through the bay cities' representation, will give the south more than the needed majority.

The mistake the majority in the legislature are now making is that they have been blinded to these clearly foreseen conditions and results in 1925—and the greater results to be obtained six years thereafter, when a new federal census will reveal the immensity of Los Angeles' growth.

Since San Francisco is not evidencing a spirit of compromise and fairness, which would in turn, avail them much when they will be in the minority, they must realize that human nature runs in its regular course and they will get the same defiant reply in 1931 that they gave the south in 1921 and 1923—no more, no less.

It must be remembered that Los Angeles county gets what it goes after. There are no half way measures, no defeated spirit and no desire at this late hour to compromise. The day of reckoning comes closer. The next legislature will see a full quota from the south seated in both the house and the senate, if it is a matter of initiative.

And what then Los Angeles will be able to give the cow counties their every want and thereby control the legislative body of this state. Also, southern California may be able to inflict some of its spirit of progress and prosperity on the north by the eradication of the bay district bosses who are fighting their last fight—and losing hard.

Pontiff Worried Over Rhineland Invasion

ROME, Jan. 25. Pope Pius XI is deeply worried over the situation in the Ruhr, but believes it would be unwise for the Vatican to make any move towards intervention at the present time, it was learned through official channels this afternoon.

Germans Will Negotiate When French Quit Ruhr

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The German government is ready to negotiate with the French only when the Ruhr is evacuated, declared Dr. Andreas Hermes in an address before the Reichstag today.

FORM ASSOCIATION FOR PROTECTION OF LA RAMADA

Community Art Center for Glendale One Aim of New Organization

The Casa Verduo Park and Art Association, was the name chosen at its meeting last night by the executive board of the organization formed this past Sunday to save historic "La Ramada" for a civic art center.

The meeting was held at the home of the president of the board, Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, 202 West Doran street. Other members of the board who attended were H. C. Swartz, vice-president, and Mrs. L. B. Beach, secretary. Mrs. D. F. Reichard, treasurer, was ill and unable to be present.

John W. Cotton, of Glendale, a noted etcher, also attended the meeting, as a special guest of the executive board.

Executive Committee

Walter L. Cheever, L. T. Rowley and D. F. Reichard, the committee appointed at Sunday's meeting to formulate a constitution and by-laws, presented the same, which were adopted. This committee, by the addition of H. C. Swartz to its membership, was then converted into an executive committee of four.

Concrete steps were taken to bring about the acquisition by the association of La Ramada. An announcement regarding the nature of these steps is not thought advisable at the present time. It may be stated, however, that Mrs. Myrtle Baldwin, the owner of the property, has agreed to hold up subdivision plans on this acreage for two weeks, pending a development of the effort now under way for preservation of the estate.

Seek Public Aid

"Stated in a general way," explained Mrs. Ballagh, our main plan is to get the people behind us on this thing. If we are successful in this effort, which we have reason to believe we are going to be, we will need to go no farther. But if we are not successful, by any chance, then we have other plans, on which a committee are already at work.

"One thing is certain. The Casa

Rainfall Record for Season Is 6.12 Inches

A clear sky greeted Glendalians a short time early this morning. But by 8 o'clock clouds began to gather and ere long the rain was falling in a steady downpour, making the rainfall for the last twenty-four hours .18 of an inch, the same amount as fell the preceding twenty-four hours, according to H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway. This brings the seasonal record up to 6.12 inches.

This seasonal record in comparison with the 1922 seasonal record at this time, 15.78, shows that southern California is probably in for much more dampness before spring arrives.

Germany Thanks U. S. For Way Troops Acted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The German government has officially expressed its gratitude and appreciation for the "correct conduct" of America's occupational forces on the Rhine, it was announced here today.

Diplomatic authorities said it was one of the few instances in history where a defeated nation has "thanked" a former enemy for the good conduct of occupational forces.

The appreciation of the German government was conveyed to the United States by Ambassador Weidefeldt.

Designer of Float to Receive Praise Tonight

Jesse E. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announces that the public is invited to be present at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight, the occasion being the presentation to L. W. Chobe of the fund of $284.50 subscribed by Glendalians as a tribute to his genius and his service, in creating the prize-winning peacock float.

Mayor Spencer Robinson will make the presentation speech and hand over the fund to Mr. Chobe.

OFFICIALS CONFER ON SOLUTION OF CITY PROBLEM

Sewage Disposal Question Is Up for Consideration; No Definite Action

Engineer J. B. Lippencott of Los Angeles, who is seeking a satisfactory solution of the local sewer problem, was a visitor today in Glendale.

Mayor Spencer Robinson accompanied Mr. Lippencott upon an automobile tour about the community in order that he might get once more a first-hand idea of the topography of Glendale.

An informal conference was held in Los Angeles yesterday which was attended by various city and state officials in regard to the best means of providing a sewer system for Glendale.

The city administration was represented at this conference by Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman S. A. Davis, Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, City Manager W. H. Reeves, City Attorney Hartley Shaw and City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy. Mr. Lippencott was present also.

Plan Joint Meeting

The general attitude of the city of Los Angeles toward permitting the city of Glendale either to connect with its sewer system or lay sewer pipes along the banks of the Los Angeles river to a disposal plant to be constructed west of Vernon is expected to be disclosed in the near future at a joint meeting of the city councils of Los Angeles and Glendale.

According to Mayor Spencer Robinson, a solution to Glendale's sewer problem is rapidly being formulated. He stated this morning that Engineer J. B. Lippencott and his staff were working incessantly upon the problem.

Looks Favorable

"Things look very favorable," remarked Mr. Robinson, "we are going to have a sewer system in Glendale.

Various Officials

The various officials stand ready to co-operate with Glendale in every manner possible in the opinion of City Manager W. H. Reeves. He stated this morning that county and state officials were back of the local city administration in its efforts to install a sewer system. He reports that the activated sludge system of sewage disposal is looked upon with great favor.

Mrs. Lucinda Houghtaling, Age 93 Years, Is Dead

ANOTHER of Glendale's old people has passed on, and The Glendale Evening News Sunset club has lost in the death of Mrs. Lucinda Houghtaling its fifth oldest member and the third member by death since the new year dawned.

Mrs. Houghtaling's death occurred Wednesday afternoon, January 24, 1923, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. La Fountain at 137 West Acacia avenue.

"Grandma" was born October 4, 1829 at Poestenkill, Rensalaer county, New York, when John Quincy Adams was still president of the United States, and during her life time she witnessed well onto a century of the nation's history.

A remarkable fact with regard to Mrs. Houghtaling's life is that she never had a serious illness. She retained her faculties and had she not suffered a broken hip two and a half years ago she would have been able to get about as actively as a woman of 60 years.

Mrs. Houghtaling's life had been one of devotion to her family, which included five children, three of whom are living; eleven grand-children, ten of whom are living, and one great-great-grandchild. She had lived with her daughter in Glendale during the past nine years.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the chapel of the L. G. Scovern company on South Brand boulevard. Burial will take place in Forest Lawn.

Diplomatic Liquor Is Diverted, Says Mellon

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—Charges of prohibition officials that "diplomatic liquor" is being diverted into bootleg channels in Washington, from some of the foreign embassies and legations, were formally communicated to the state department today by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

A. R. Eastman, president of the Glendale State Bank and also president of the Verdugo Hills District Council of Boy Scouts of America, acted as host yesterday afternoon and showed Boy Scouts through the bank. PHYSICIANS HEAR HEALTH OFFICERS

County and City Officials Speakers at Luncheon Meeting of Club

Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, Los Angeles county health officer, and Dr. Gerhard Kaemmerling, Glendale city health officer, were speakers yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the Glendale Physicians' club at the Chamber of Commerce.

"Health Conditions In Los Angeles County" was the subject discussed by Dr. Pomeroy. He told of the problems of the county health department, embracing nine different divisions, employing some fifty-six persons, and taking in thirteen health centers. Included in the attaches are seventeen nurses, whose salaries are partly paid by the county and partly by the school districts."

Needs Jurisdiction

That no health officer can render efficient service unless he is given full jurisdiction over his territory, which should be without municipal boundary restrictions, was the opinion voiced by Dr. Pomeroy.

Dr. Kaemmerling spoke on lo-

WILL OPEN BIDS FOR NEW SCHOOL

Trustees and Architects Will Decide on Plans and Award Contracts

Bids for the new High school plant will be opened this afternoon by the Glendale Union High school Board of Trustees.

According to Principal George U. Moyse, contracts will be awarded as soon as Architects John M. Austin and George A. Lindsey and the Board of Trustees have had time to study the bids and decide which is the most acceptable.

The specifications provided for a number of alternates and a decision must be reached as to which combination will be most satisfactory.

Although $600,000 worth of bonds were voted at the next to the last high school election, the Board of Trustees does not intend to put more than $550,000 into the buildings and will reserve at least $50,000 for furnishings and equipment.

ARGUE ON ARBUCKLE

THRIFT IS EASTMAN'S THEME IN ADDRESS TO BOY SCOUTS

Inspection of Glendale State Bank Is Part of Wednesday Afternoon Program

SCORES of Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills district were the guests Wednesday afternoon of A. R. Eastman, president of the Glendale State Bank. Mr. Eastman is also the president of the local Boy Scout Council and is greatly interested in the work among the boys.

Starting in at the president's office the Scouts were taken all through the bank and told and shown how the banking system works. Stacking and counting money, making deposits, writing out checks, ledger work, and adding machines were only a few of the things explained to the boys, but what seemed to interest them more than anything was the huge five ton safety deposit vault which, as Mr. Eastman explained, "was more delicate despite of its hugeness than a small wrist watch."

After going through the bank the Scouts assembled in the big marble lobby of the bank while Mr. Eastman gave them a talk on thrift.

"It was," stated Mr. Eastman, "chiefly during the war that the word "Thrift" lost much of its significance. Is it any wonder, then, that we hear so much complaining in the world today? It has been estimated that the vast majority of people have lost the art of living within their incomes. Many a man goes around lamenting because he is unable to make ends meet. He is apt to blame conditions over which he has no control, when, as a rule, he himself is the guilty party. Perhaps he earned thirty dollars a week, but he arranged to spend at the rate of thirty-five or forty dollars a week, and, when bankruptcy stares him into the face, he claims that somebody is trying "to do him" and knocks the other fellow instead of himself, as he really should.

Haphazard Thrift

"But," somebody will say, 'the milk has been spilled and it is of no use to complain about it. How shall I manage with only a small income and nothing to save for a rainy day?' In other words, is

Lumber Men Refuse to Sell Spruce to Reds

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 25.—Gray's Harbor lumber interests have flatly refused to sell 2,000,000 feet of airplane spruce lumber to be delivered to a Baltic port for the Russian Bolshevik government, but believed destined for Germany, it was learned today.

The proposal was submitted by a representative who bought a large quantity of airplane spruce lumber here for German account prior to the outbreak of the war in 1914. This is one of the reasons why the lumber is believed to be destined for Germany.

Frost Predicted for Southern California

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—Low temperatures were recorded this morning at various points in California, the weather bureau announced, and a heavy to killing frost in northern California and heavy frost in the interior of southern California was predicted for tomorrow morning.

Temperatures reported ranged from 25 at Mount Wilson upward. Mount Hamilton reported 26; Santa Rosa 28 and Colusa 29.

LEGALITY OF VOTE BEING QUESTIONED

Parent-Teacher Association Presidents Learn About Districts in Doubt

In preparation for the campaign supporting the school bond issue a question has arisen as to legality of the vote of three outlying districts that have heretofore been considered as in the Glendale school district and their eligibility to vote in local school matters. It is this question that delayed an active organization of Parent-Teacher Association presidents meeting yesterday at the call of Superintendent Richardson D. White at the library.

The three districts under discussion are Casa Verdugo, Sycamore Canyon and a small triangle in the northwest section of the city. According to Mr. White these three sections, while out of the city limits, have always been considered as in the Glendale school district.

Might Be Illegal

However, the county counsel has expressed the opinion that under the city charter their votes might not be considered legal in the coming bond election. He, therefore, advises that these sections be canvassed with petitions reassigning their connection with the Glendale school district. This will make their vote legal.

This canvassing is to be done by women of the city P. T. A. When this is completed the P. T. A. officers will be lined up in a campaign supporting the bond issue.

V. M. Hollister, president of the local Community Service organization, also spoke at the meeting yesterday, on community service, but the P. T. A. women took no action either supporting or opposing the movement.

Demonstrations Break Out In Different Sections; Strike on Increase

BULLETIN

TREVES, Jan. 25. — German railway workers went on strike here this afternoon in protest against French military occupation of the Ruhr.

BULLETIN

DUSSELDORF, Jan. 25.—Several German civilians and Frenchmen were hurt in an outbreak of rioting here today following the arrival of General Weygand. Cavalry was patrolling the city this evening.

MAYENCE, Jan. 25.—The French military authorities today took over command of the German municipal police.

BULLETIN

ESSEN, Jan. 25.—A huge threatening crowd gathered this evening in front of the Kaiseroff, (the hotel where the French military authorities established headquarters.) The Germans refused to disperse and the French drew up a machine gun, threatening to open fire with it.

BULLETIN

LONDON, Jan. 25.—"France will not leave the Ruhr until the Germans display good will in aiding a reparations settlement," General Weygand was quoted as saying in a Dusseldorf despatch to the Evening Standard today. General Weygand is Marshal Foch's chief of staff.

ESSEN, Jan. 25.—Anti-French demonstrations broke out in the Oberenhausen this afternoon. Two German telegraph operators were arrested for refusing to explain the workings of the local telegraph system to Belgian and French military authorities.

Menacing crowds gathered in front of French headquarters in Essen, making a display of French force necessary to clear the streets.

The French closed the Essen postoffice and the telephone and telegraph offices in reprisal for the cutting of sixteen telephone and telegraph wires by the Germans.

Strike Increases

The railroad strike increased during the afternoon. Several stations were tied up. German railway workers refused to allow trains to enter occupied areas carrying French railway men.

A communique from France this afternoon said there are ten French divisions in the Rhineland and the Ruhr, but no colored troops.

Fritz Thyssen and other coal magnates who were fined at Mayence yesterday are due here this evening. A big German ovation was planned for them. Representatives of the German coal operators said the fines would not be paid.

Feeling of Triumph

There is a suppressed feeling of triumph on the part of Germans throughout the Ruhr. The Germans interpret the action of the French in imposing money fines upon the German coal operators instead of prison sentences a "German victory." They declare that the French are "climbing down."

It is evident, however, from the developments that the French have determined upon a policy of caution, irrespective of its interpretation by the Germans. The French realize that the imposing of jail terms upon the German mine owners might have proved the match to set off the powder magazine of hatred and resentment. The French are doing what they can to disarm German bitterness.

Try to Avoid Clash

Both the French and responsible German people are taking pains to avoid a clash that might lead to bloodshed.

Considerable anxiety has been aroused on the part of the Germans by two developments:

First—News that General Weygand, chief of staff to Marshal Foch, is coming to the Ruhr.

Second—A report that Morrocan troops are to be stationed in the Elton-Essen district.

The Germans do not know the reason for General Weygand's visit but they fear it means a tightening of the French military grip and possibly complete isolation of the Ruhr.

Local Man Has Unique Will Drawn In Ireland 89 Years Ago

DOCUMENT IN POSSESSION OF HENRY JOHNSTON OF GLENDALE

Unusual Keepsake Will Prove Of Interest to Lawyers and Public Generally

THERE are quantities of interesting keepsakes in Glendale homes that would furnish stories of historical worth and romance and one of these, a will drawn up in Ireland eighty-nine years ago, has been found in the possession of Henry Johnston of 111 North Everett street. It is the will of a brother of Mr. Johnston's grandfather on his mother's side. The document owned by Mr. Johnston is a copy of the will made by a lawyer in Ireland and sent to his grandfather at the time of his brother's death.

Mr. Johnston's grandfather came from Ireland in 1821 to Toronto, Ontario, Canada. In 1838 the family traveled in immigrant wagons to Oregon, Ogle county, Illinois, and it was there Mr. Johnston was born in a log cabin on the edge of the woods.

That was over eighty years ago, Mr. Johnston having celebrated his eighty-first birthday October 16, 1922. Mr. Johnston lived for twenty years in Rockford, Ill., and during the past fourteen years has made his home in Glendale.

Here's Aged Will

This old will is one of Mr. Johnston's treasures, and through his courtesy it is here printed for the pleasure of The Glendale Evening News readers:

"I, John Rutledge, of Ballymagirl, finding that it is the will of God to call me out of this world, have called on the Reverend G. D. Bersford to draw on this, my will;

I will my right and interest in that part of the land of Ballymagirl and Greagh, which I hold, to James Rutledge, by his paying the sum of one hundred and twenty pounds into the hands of Rev. G. D. Bersford for my brother, Robert Rutledge, or his heirs now living in America in the state of Illinois, the sum to be paid in two gales, the first gale to be paid in November. It is my will that the first gale be paid on the first day of that month. Mr. Bersford will then give him up possession on his giving him a bond for the other half of the money.

Names Executors

"I name the Rev. Bersford and Forester Rutledge as my executors, and I desire that they will let as much cow-acre and grazing of my farm as can be done from May to November, the product to be kept by the Rev. Bersford for my brother Robert and his heirs, the executors paying themselves for any incidental expenses. I further bequeath to Cathrine Rutledge, my beloved wife, my dwelling house and also the new office house at the side of the Parlour end of with the garden at the west side of the road.

"The white-backed cow and her grass, winter and summer, whilst she lives, but at any time that she marries or takes up with any man, all that I have left her in the above is to then be taken from her and given to James Rutledge, except the cow, which she may keep.

Heap of Potatoes

"I will her ten pounds in hand, the heap of potatoes in the garden, together with a barrel of potatoes and a hundred and a half of meal. Also her own bed and bedding, together with her mother's bed and bedding. I leave her also the barrel with the head on it and her tubs and the little churn, together with three chairs, the table, the tea tray and the large wooden dish, a bread iron, also a little trunk, together with all the bed linen.

"Should my wife choose to leave Ballymagirl and go to live elsewhere, she is to give up possession to the Rutledges, they paying her a reasonable rent for same, and also she may let the grass of her cow, should she leave Ballymagirl.

Blue Frock Coat

"I leave her also the two chests she bought herself, also the vessel sent me from America, her choice iron pot kettle, pot hooks, pan and crock and bacon in my house and the two crippled pigs. I further bequeath to Johnston Gibson four pounds sterling. I further bequeath to Gibson my blue frock coat. It is my desire that my executors call and auction and sell all that I have not willed away, that out of the auction money my debts be paid first and that the remainder of the money should be divided among my sister's children, Elizabeth Alerton, Margaret Rice, Jane Rice and Hanagh Elizabeth Alerton, getting double as much as the others, and also all my wearable clothes except my frock coat as mentioned above.

"Witnesses present,
"George D. Bersford,
"Forster Rutledge.
"Signed, Sealed and Delivered in the Presence of the Witnesses,
"This forth day of February, 1842.

"JOHN RUTLEDGE."

LEGION TO FIGHT LEASE OF LAND TO JAPANESE

Eagle Rock Post May Start Move to Halt Tenure of Sawtelle Tract

Theodore Koethen Post, No. 227, American legion, will hold open house and provide a big feed for the membership and veterans not affiliated with the post at the public library in Eagle Rock tonight.

Aside from entertaining those not members of the organization, several subjects that are considered of vital importance to the members and the public at large will be discussed, among them being the matter of leasing public lands to the Japanese.

The post had gone on record as being opposed to this policy and may decide to make an active campaign against releasing the Sawtelle acreage, which has been held by Japs for several years and which may be leased to them again in February.

GERMANS DISPLAY GREAT GRIEF AT YANKS' LEAVING

Affection for Doughboys Is So Strong They Take Second Farewell

BULLETIN

COBLENZ, Jan. 25.—Violent rioting broke out following the departure of the American army of occupation, but was quelled today by a small handful of American military police, who were left behind with the "clean up" squad.

ANTWERP, Jan. 25.—With full steam up and all preparations for her voyage completed, the great United States transport St. Mihiel lay at Antwerp quay ready to depart late in the day bearing the United States army of occupation from the Rhine. This was the last chapter of America's part in the world war. The Stars and Stripes were going home.

Upon the wharves all was bustle and confusion, field artillery, machine gun parts, crates, boxes and bales being carried aboard.

The troop train, in two sections, bearing the doughboys, had rolled into Antwerp amidst a demonstration that equalled in noise, if not in grief, the ovation that had marked the departure from Coblenz late yesterday.

Second Farewell

When the Americans arrived they were surprised at being greeted by a number of German residents of Coblenz who had come to Antwerp by regular train. Their affection for the doughboys was so great and the grief over ending a four-year friendship was so intense that they had come for a second and final farewell at the ship.

Most of the Americans were sorry to leave behind their comfortable Rhineland quarters which had become like home after four years' occupation. They grumbled with considerable good natured profanity over being compelled to leave behind their animal pets and mascots. They had proved great collectors of animal life.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—America's bill for occupation of the Rhine, now totalling $256,000,000, will be formally presented to the allied powers in Paris on March 1, it was announced at the state department today.

Eliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the treasury, has been delegated by this government as its chief representative in liquidating the debt.

FORM NEW TROOP OF BOY SCOUTS

Rush for Membership in New Organization Backed by Legion Post

Another page was written into Scout history Wednesday night with the organization of Troop No. 4, Glendale Boy Scouts of America.

Arrangements were made for only 16 boys, but the news that a new troop was to be organized spread like the wind and long before the appointed time more than 25 boys were gathered in front of the American Legion hall vying with each other for membership in the new troop.

"The Glendale American Legion is sponsoring the troop. The troop committee consists of Col. James W. Everington, Atty. James F. McBryde, Chalmer D. Day, Dru Nicoles, and Emil O. Kiefer. Atty. Eugene J. Wix has been appointed scout master and Nelson Dick assistant scoutmaster.

Boys Initiated

A program, which had been planned was put across. The Boy Scout salute and pledge to the flag were given and the boys learned the Scout oath. Following this, there was about ten minutes of elementary drill and temporary patrols were organized.

Two games were played called grab-the-bomb and merry-go-round. There was considerable noise as the boys learned some Boy Scout yells.

Chalmer Day, commander of the American Legion, gave the boys a word of welcome and told them a Chinaman story.

FREE EAGLE ROCK MAN ON FOREST FIRE CHARGE

F. W. Link Found Not Guilty Of Causing Blaze on Harland Heights

F. W. Link of Eagle Rock was found not guilty of being responsible for causing a destructive fire on the forest reserve near Eagle Rock late last summer. The case came to trial in Glendale recently, upon complaint of the forest service.

The complaint of the forest officials originated from the fact that a fire broke out in the forest adjacent to the Link home soon after he had succeeded, with the help of his son and others, in extinguishing flames that promised to get beyond his control on his own property on Harland Heights.

Deputy Recorder McClay and Police Chief Bramble were witnesses in the case recently tried at Glendale, McClay producing the records of the case when Mr. Link had his trial in this city on a charge of starting a brush fire without a permit. Bramble was identified with the case through having made the arrest.

PLAN CARD PARTY AT WOMEN'S CLUB NEXT MONDAY

Newcomers and Non-Members Are Urged to Attend Weekly Meetings

The Twentieth Century Women's club of Eagle Rock will give another one of its card parties next Monday afternoon in the club house on Colorado boulevard. This has become a weekly event and somewhat of a departure from the usual procedure. Heretofore the meetings have been held once a month.

Newcomers and others not members of the Women's club are cordially invited to these open house meetings every Monday afternoon.

Seek New Members for Girls' Organization

Every girl in Eagle Rock of high school age is extended a cordial invitation to join the Girl Reserves of the Presbyterian church, say members of this active organization. Next Saturday they will have a skating party at Alhambra, to which all are invited.

One of their interesting meetings was held one evening early in the week. This was the annual knowledge meeting and resulted in considerable interesting discussion and planning. The meeting was held in the social hall at the church.

EAGLE ROCK C. OF C. MEETING CALLED FOR TUESDAY

Plan for Membership Drive Will Be Outlined by L. A. Organizers

Secretary of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce, George Van Sands, has sent out notices calling a meeting of the membership on Tuesday evening, January 30, at the city hall. The meeting will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock.

Owing to the absence of President Root, who is in the east at the present time, H. G. Warren, vice president of the organization, will preside.

One of the important matters to come before the meeting at that time will be the subject of reorganization. Messrs. Stevenson and Schoeboe of Los Angeles, professional organizers, will be on hand with a plan outlined for a membership campaign drive. It is expected that the meeting will decide whether or not it is desirable to put on a campaign at this time.

A cordial invitation is extended every citizen of Eagle Rock by the Chamber of Commerce members to attend this meeting.

THRIFT IS EASTMAN'S THEME IN ADDRESS TO BOY SCOUTS

it possible to be thrifty? In many cases incomes are such as to make the practice of thrift compulsory, but the difficulty is that many people practice thrift in a haphazard way; which, perhaps, means not at all, rather than according to a definite plan.

"Use a budget plan," urged Mr. Eastman. "Making a budget means simply planning the wisest use of one's income. No matter whether a person has the management of a home or just his own personal expenses, he should prepare at the beginning of the year a tentative plan for the use of the income. It may be found that the plan will not work perfectly—that it was made relatively long in some places and short in others—but by keeping a careful account of all expenditures and comparing with the budget, some very useful things will be learned and the next budget can be more accurately planned and more consistently followed.

"No household or personal budget is complete with having in it the item of savings, and this should be the first item. A certain part of one's income, such as a fifth or a tenth, ought to be determined upon as savings — it should be some part, even though it may have to be a very small part—and when the pay envelope is received the very first money spent from it should be that part planned for in the budget as 'savings.' Just as the regular dripping wears away the stone, so will regular saving, if carefully invested, provide for the future which everyone plans to provide for sometime.

Urges Savings Account

"Some may feel that the interest paid on all safe investments such as term saving accounts is so small that they will just keep their money in a checking account, with the result, all too often, that the checking account has slipped away when it was needed for an emergency. In addition to the interest received on money put in term saving accounts, the habit of regularity of saving is worth much, and then one will hesitate to break in on a savings account.

"The historian of the future may quite properly write of this generation that it made some of the grievous mistakes by spending money for luxuries and articles that are by no means helpful instead of investing it in efforts centering in the betterment of civic, economic and housing conditions.

"The ninth Scout law says that a Scout is thrifty. He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way, be generous to those in need, and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns.

"In order to become a Second Class Scout a boy must put one dollar in the bank and for First Class Scouts two dollars must be earned and saved. This is a very wise test and it goes a long way towards starting you Scouts on the road to thriftiness.

Learn Value of Money

"If Boy Scouts will develop the habit and desire to conserve rather than to waste or destroy, as taught by the Scout Law of Thrift, they will learn the value of money. Further, the business experience, however small, gained in earning the dollar or two starts him thinking about his future vocation. I do not recommend to you fellows that you choose the 'almighty dollar.' No, but I do recommend that you save it and buy a good education and equip yourselves for the future. Then, instead of your chasing the dollar the dollar will chase you.

"It requires no sacrifice to bank money wheedled out of Dad. The Scout really appreciates the money he earns by his own labor.

"Some Scouts have made articles of craftsmanship such as radio sets, now in vogue, and sold them. Others have small home savings banks and put away all their nickels, dimes and pennies, which grow very rapidly.

"Another good idea to develop thrift is to have a bunch of Boy Scouts start out with only 25 cents apiece for a three-day outing and to earn the balance of their needs during the three days without begging. This will also have a tendency to make boys more careful with their food and perhaps teach them to not waste food while in their camps. All this tends to make the Scouts thrifty."

FEW FEEL THAT WAY

Tommy—"Pop, what is contentment?" Tommy's Pop—"Contentment, my son, is a feeling that comes to us when we have more than we can possibly use."

SITE FOR CIVIC CENTER URGED

Purchase of Hospital Ground Advocated by Members Of Exchange Club

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital's property between Jackson and Isabel streets on Broadway would make an ideal location for a civic center, according to the report of R. E. Johnston of 440 South San Fernando road, chairman of its civics committee, at the Broadway Inn yesterday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange club.

Capt. W. B. Kelly of 106 West Colorado street mentioned the possibility of utilizing a civic site for a clubhouse which might be used by all the patriotic organizations of Glendale.

Subdivision Planned

"Let's not just talk about this thing!" he exclaimed. "Let's get busy and do something."

Fear that it would be impossible to obtain a community center without condemnation proceedings after this opportunity has passed was expressed by Mr. Johnson.

C. E. Kimlin, manager of the auditorium, recently wrote the following letter to Mr. Johnston in regard to the subject.

"Some months ago we gave an option to the American Legion which was relinquished on an agreement which was mutually satisfactory. Since then we have been making plans for sale by subdivision in units of 25 or 50-foot lots. Offers of purchase have been made by different parties and we feel that the property can be turned in a comparatively short time.

Tract Worth $175,000

"New units on our new location are under construction making an early sale necessary because of the large expenditure of money. However, if it is to the best interests of the city, we will defer further negotiations, giving you a few days in which to obtain the sentiment of the people of Glendale. Should your committee look with favor upon the project we would be glad to give your plans consideration.

"The portion, which is for sale, is 320 feet on Broadway and 375 feet on Isabel and Jackson streets and from our investigation should net $175,000."

Mr. Jackson is greatly pleased over the promising lucky license number he has received and while not pledging himself to keep the speedometer at the 13 miles per mark he is confident that 1923 is to be a lucky trip.

19 INJURED WHEN 'L' TRAINS CRASH

Passengers Flee Over Rails As Loaded Cars Smash Into Coal Train

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Nineteen passengers on the Third avenue elevated line were injured early today when their train crashed into the rear of a six-car coal train near the Fourteenth street station.

The coal train, loaded with soft coal for station agents along the line, had drawn up at the platform and was displaying four danger lights, according to the conductor, when the passenger crashed into it.

The first three cars of the passenger train buckled, one of them telescoping the rear car of the coal train and the other rising perpendicularly in the air and then settling back on the rails with a crash.

Passengers rolled in a shrieking mass to the rear of the cars.

Flee Over Tracks

Those in the rear cars of the five-car train got out and walked along the tracks to the station which was turned into a temporary hospital as injured persons were carried back along the rails.

Injured were treated by ambulance surgeons. All of them were able to return to their homes.

William Williams, motorman of the north-bound passenger train, said his brakes failed to take hold on the icy rails.

Governor Refuses to Halt Death Penalties

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—Declaring that he will not violate his oath of office by exercising executive clemency in cases where men have been found guilty of murder after a fair trial, Governor Friend W. Richardson issued a formal statement in which he virtually said that he will not commute the sentences of men about to be executed.

Governor Richardson's statement blasts the last hope of those seeking to save the lives of Ullah Mohammed and Felipe Bisquerre, both of whom are awaiting execution Friday. Mohammed was convicted of killing Allie Akbar, his partner, on a poultry ranch, and will be hanged at San Quentin prison. Bisquerre will be executed at Folsom prison for the murder of C. N. Cox, a lumber company superintendent, in Plumas county.

Situation in Europe Perilous, Says Smuts

CAPETOWN, Jan. 25.—"The European situation is more fraught with peril today than it has been at any other time in the past hundred years," declared Premier Jan Smuts, in the Union of South Africa parliament today.

Premier Smuts was commenting upon French occupation of the Ruhr when he made this statement.

Allies Will Present Peace Pact to Turks

LAUSANNE, Jan. 25.—The allies will present the draft of a Near East peace treaty to the Turks next Wednesday which must be signed or rejected forthwith, it was officially announced today. The Near East peace conference is expected to come to an end two days later.

SCOUT MOVEMENT TOPIC AT LUNCH

Exchange Club Asked to Aid In Raising Budget for Next Two Years

Sixteen hundred lives were saved last year by Boy Scouts! D. W. Pollard, national field representative of the Boy Scouts of America, made this assertion yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange Club.

A. R. Eastman of 709 North Louise street, president of the Boy Scout Council for the Verdugo Hills District, requested the appointment of a committee of three to assist the campaign committee in raising a two-year budget.

"I am satisfied," he remarked, "that there is no man here or in this town but who realizes that there is nothing more important than the Boy Scout movement and the wonderful things it accomplishes."

Dr. E. H. Parker of 426 North Maryland avenue, member of the local Boy Scout council, also spoke briefly on the importance of scouting.

"It seems to me that too much can hardly be said about it, "he said. "We can't be too enthusiastic.

Exalted Principles

"As I understand the Boy Scout movement, it rests upon four fundamental principles: A sound body, a clean mind, useful employment and fair play. These things mixed together in a man stand for the highest type of citizenship.

"I am very much impressed with the importance of soundness of body. In the late war only 11 per cent of the men conscripted in European armies were found really physically fit for service. Our own showing was not a whole lot better.

"The men of today are the boys of yesterday; the boys of today are the men of tomorrow. So it seems to me that we should all be very much interested in these boys."

The serenity and tranquility of the next generation depends largely upon the boys who are now about 10 years of age, according to Dr. Parker, who stated emphatically his opinion that time, effort and money expended in the Boy Scout movement would prove an excellent investment.

Club Backs Scouts

Dr. Warren Z. Newton of 121 North Brand boulevard called attention to the fact that the Exchange Club of San Francisco had backed a Boy Scout troop with satisfactory results. He suggested that the Glendale Exchange Club should do the same. He was appointed as chairman of a committee to investigate the project.

Dr. Jim Belyea of 111 East Broadway, chairman of the membership committee, reported the application of several additional business men for membership in the club.

"Exie," the Exchange Club's "kitty," took up a collection at the termination of the luncheon toward the price of a $25 ticket to next Monday night's Community Service banquet. As the attendance prize C. C. Coghlin of 310 East Broadway was selected to attend this function as the official representative of the Glendale Exchange Club.

Jackson Is Vitalizer

The Los Angeles Exchange club was represented at yesterday's luncheon by James Hanley and Arthur Pinner, who were the guests of R. E. Johnston of 440 South San Fernando Road and both of whom are interested in the Los Angeles Builders' Exchange.

President D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard, sometimes, "vitalized" the session and kept the program moving from soup to pound-cake.

Attorney E. Judson Brown of Los Angeles was a guest at the luncheon of Attorney W. C. Anspach of 111 East Broadway.

"Certainly every time I come over here," he remarked, "Glendale seems to be getting bigger and more progressive every day."

HALF MILLION IS TOLL OF FLAMES

Fire Sweeps Business Plants In Chicago, Causing Immense Damage

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Two big fires did damage estimated at more than half a million dollars to industrial plans here early today.

One blaze wrecked the greater part of the block-long plant of the American Linseed Oil company, menacing a large elevator. Loss was placed at between $200,000 and $500,000.

The other fire caused $150,000 damage to a six-story building on the west side.

Two fireboats helped battle the linseed oil plant fire.

Passive Resistance Gaining in Germany

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Passive resistance in the occupied areas in the Rhineland and Ruhr is gaining, although it is entailing great hardships upon the people, German officials declare. They said that the German workers were displaying "laudable patriotism."

Although the Ruhr is being isolated from the rest of Germany, Berlin is not yet confronted with an actual fuel famine. Coal has been arriving from surplus stocks.

American Wheat to Be Tried In France

Victor d'Autremont

France will soon be growing the hardier variety of American wheat, if samples sent there prove to be fertile in French soil. Victor d'Autremont, an American of French extraction, recently awarded the Palm of the Academy of France by the government, has made arrangements with the United States department of agriculture to have the samples sent to French farmers for cultivation.

TELL MENACE OF PICTURE BRIDES

Japs Threaten U. S. Control In Hawaii, Says Report Of Commission

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Continued importation of "picture" brides in Hawaii threatens to give the Japanese numerical, political and commercial control in the territory and menaces the security of the United States, according to a report submitted today to Secretary of Labor Davis by a special commission which has just completed an investigation of labor conditions in the islands.

The traffic of "picture brides," coupled with the present policy of "parental adoption," has defeated the purpose of the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" between Japan and the United States, the commission declared.

"The menace from a military standpoint," the report of the investigators stated, "can be fully verified by referring to the records of related federal departments.

U. S. Must Control

"The question of self-defense submerges all others into insignificance. If these islands are to remain American, the assured control of the political, industrial, commercial, social and educational life of the islands must also be American and the sooner we wake up to a fuller appreciation of this imperative and immediate need the sooner we will make the people of the Hawaiian islands feel generally a greater sense of security and control of all that continues to make continued living in the territory of Hawaii worth while."

Immediate remedial legislation by congress, the commission said, was necessary, in the interest of national defense and the welfare of American citizenship in the territory.

Quake Leaves Damage Trail in Humboldt Co.

HEALDSBURG, Calif., Jan 25.—The earthquake which visited Humboldt county last Monday left a trail of damage in its wake, according to word received here.

At one point a 300 foot boulder was thrown across the highway, closing traffic. At Scotia, a huge crane which fell in the yards of the Hammond Lumber company was completely damaged.

The temblor was most severe in the experience of residents of the county.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A resolution authorizing the appropriation of $6,500,000 for modernizing battleships of the United States navy was introduced in the house by Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house naval affairs committee. The resolution provides that $500,000 be spent on each of the navy's thirteen battleships.

Crowd Gives Ovation To German Prisoners

FLOAT SHOWN IN EASTERN PAPERS

New York Times and Herald Reproduce Glendale's Winning Peacock

Two of New York's biggest newspapers, the Times and the Herald, carried large-size reproductions of Glendale's prize-winning peacock in their rotogravure sections for January 14.

The Times gave L. W. Chobe's beautiful creation a full half page, and the Herald featured a photograph of the great bird in a central position on page 1, with, under it, the caption: Winner of first prize in Pasadena's Carnival of Roses—a marvelous peacock, constructed of beautiful flowers, which represented the city of Glendale in the floral parade

The symbolic bird also adorned the front cover of the Pacific Electric magazine for January 10.

Typifies Glendale

With magic wings, far and wide, has that great bird flown, over the length and breadth of this land, attesting that here, in this City of the Sun, is a place sufficiently Arcadian to breed a "Bird of Paradise" of those dimensions.

So, by its good works, is Glendale, "America's Fastest Growing City," becoming known and esteemed afar.

The picture in the New York Herald was brought in through the courtesy of R. S. Person; and that in the New York Times through the courtesy of Secretary James M. Rhoades, of the Chamber of Commerce.

The purse of $284.50, that was raised for Mr. Chobe by subscription, in gratitude for his services to the city of Glendale in designing this and other prize-winning floats, will be turned over to him tonight, at the City Council meeting.

They will meet tonight for rehearsal at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hopkins, Jr., 659 North Central avenue.

Jury Fails to Reach Verdict in Wurtz Case

Whether George H. McLean of 1531 South Central avenue "exhibited a deadly weapon in a rude manner" on the night of November 13 in the proximity of Ex-Officer E. P. Wurtz is still unsettled.

The case was tried for the second time yesterday in the court of Judge F. H. Lowe. At 11:40 p. m. the jury stood eleven to one in favor of acquittal and was discharged.

Date of the new trial has not been set. Members of the jury were: C. F. Stuart, Mrs. Mary Milligan, R. Adams, Mrs. L. T. Rowley, J. E. Phillips, E. Moniot, David L. Gregg, J. W. Behymer, William Griffin, Hearn Robinson, Jesse Flower and R. A. Saulberry.

British Prepare for Crisis in Near East

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Great Britain has undertaken fresh military and naval measures to meet any eventuality in the Near East that might arise from collapse of the Lausanne conference. Officials explained that these were "precautions, not war moves."

Official circles are pessimistic over the outcome of the Near East conference, although Lord Curzon, head of the British delegation, notified the foreign office that he had not completely given up hope of settling other issues aside from the Mosul boundary question.

The Turks maintain their recalcitrant attitude.

Government Calls 200 Witnesses to Testify

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Two hundred witnesses are to take the stand for the government in the alleged $6,000,000 fraud case involving Dan Hayes of the Dan Hayes company of Idaho and twelve other defendants, it was announced.

Three jurors have been chosen. It is charged by the government that Hayes and the others fleeced their victims by inducing them to invest in worthless California land.

The deal completed here today is said to involve a turn-over of more than $2,000,000 capital.

Under the management of Lesser and his associates a program of reconstruction is to be undertaken at once. An outlay of a million dollars is to be expended on the Tivoli theatre here. Some theatres are involved in the T. & D. deal and their acquisition brings more than sixty theatres under Lesser control in California.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

This, too, was slow work; but it was infinitely less liable to attract attention than any other method of safe cracking with which Billy was familiar.

It was long past midnight when Captain Byrne was rewarded with success—the tumblers clicked into position, the handle of the safe door turned and the bolts slipped back.

To swing open the door and transfer the contents of the safe to the two sacks was the work of but a few minutes. As Billy rose and threw the heavy burden across a shoulder he heard a challenge from without, and then a parley. Immediately after the sound of footsteps ascending the stairway to the rooming-house came plainly to his ears, and then he had slipped the last bolt upon the rear door and was out in the yard beyond.

Now Bridge, sleeping the sleep of utter exhaustion that the boom of a cannon might not have disturbed, did that inexplicable thing which everyone of us has done a hundred times in our lives. He awakened, with a start, out of a sound sleep, though no disturbing noise had reached his ears.

Something impelled him to sit up in bed, and as he did so he could see through the window beside him into the yard at the rear of the building. There in the moonlight he saw a man throwing a sack across the horn of a saddle. He saw the man mount, and he saw him wheel his horse around about and ride away toward the north. There seemed to Bridge nothing unusual about the man's act, nor had there been any indication either of stealth or haste to arouse the American's suspicion. Bridge lay back again upon his pillows and sought to woo the slumber which the sudden awakening seemed to have banished for the remainder of the night.

And up the stairway to the second floor staggered Tony and Benito. Their money was gone; but they had acquired something else which appeared much more difficult to carry and not so easily gotten rid of.

Tony held the key to their room. It was the second room upon the right of the hall. Tony remembered that very distinctly. He had impressed it upon his mind before leaving the room earlier in the evening, for Tony had feared some such contingency as that which had befallen.

Tony fumbled with the handle of a door, and stabbed vainly at an elusive keyhole.

"Wait," mumbled Benito. "This is not the room. It was the second door from the stairway. This is the third."

Tony lurched about and staggered back. Tony reasoned: "If that was the third door the next behind me must be the second, and on the right;" but Tony took not into consideration that he had reversed the direction of his erratic wobbling. He lunged across the hall—not because he wished to but because the spirits moved him. He came in contact with a door. "This, then, must be the second door," he soliloquized, "and it is upon my right. Ah, Benito, this is the room!"

Benito was skeptical. He said as much; but Tony was obdurate. Did he not know a second door when he saw one? Was he, furthermore, not a grown man and therefore entirely capable of distinguishing between his left hand and his right? Yes! Tony was all of that, and more, so Tony inserted the key in the lock—it would have turned any lock upon the second floor—and, lo! the door swung inward upon its hinges.

"Ah! Benito!" cried Tony. "Did I not tell you so? See! This is our room, for the key opens the door."

The room was dark. Tony carried forward by the weight of his head, which had long since grown unaccountably heavy, rushed his feet rapidly forward that he might keep them within a few inches of his center of equilibrium.

The distance which it took his feet to catch up with his head was equal to the distance between the doorway and the foot of the bed, and when Tony reached the spot, with Benito meandering after him the latter, much to his astonishment, saw in the diffused moonlight, which pervaded the room, the miraculous disappearance of his former enemy and erstwhile friend. Then from the depths below came a wild scream and a heavy thud.

The sentry upon the beat before the bank heard both. For an instant he stood motionless, then he called aloud for the guard, and turned toward the bank door. But this was locked and he could but peer in through the windows. Seeing a dark form within, and being a Mexican he raised his rifle and fired through the glass of the doors.

Tony, who had dropped through the hole which Billy had used so quietly, heard the zing of a bullet pass his head, and the impact as it sploshed into the adobe wall behind him. With a second yell Tony dodged behind the safe and besought Mary to protect him.

From above Benito peered through the hole into the blackness below. Down the hall came the barefoot landlord, awakened by the screams and shot. Behind him came Bridge, buckling his revolver belt about his hips as he ran. Not having been furnished with pajamas Bridge had not thought it necessary to remove his clothing, and so he had lost no time in dressing.

When the two, now joined by Benito, reached the street they found the guard there, battering in the bank doors. Benito, fearing for the life of Tony, which if anyone took should be taken by him, rushed upon the sergeant of the guard, explaining with both lips and hands the remarkable accident which had precipitated Tony into the bank.

The sergeant listened, though he did not believe, and when the doors had fallen in, he commanded Tony to come out with his hands above his head. Then followed an investigation which disclosed the looting of the safe, and the great hole in the ceiling through which Tony had tumbled.

The bank president came while the sergeant and the landlord were in Billy's room investigating. Bridge had followed them.

"It was the gringo," cried the excited Boniface. "This is his room. He has cut a hole in the floor which I shall have to pay to have repaired."

A captain came next, sleepy-eyed and profane. When he heard what had happened and that the wealth which he had been detailed to guard had been taken while he slept, he tore his hair and promised that the sentry should be shot at dawn.

By the time they had returned to the street all the male population of Cuivaca was there and most of the female.

"One thousand dollars," cried the bank president, "to the man who stops the thief and returns to me what the villain has stolen."

A detachment of soldiers was in the saddle and passing the bank when the offer was made.

"Which way did he go?" asked the captain. "Did no one see him leave?"

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Edna Lee Booker, Shanghai, declares that even Mrs. Einstein doesn't understand the Einstein theory.

TOMORROW—W. F. Sullivan, St. Louis correspondent, writes of the soldiers' memorial to be erected in that city.

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
For International News Service

SHANGHAI, Jan. 25.—Dr. Albert Einstein, famous physicist, was officially notified that he had been awarded the Nobel prize for scientific research upon his arrival here by the Swedish Consul-General.

Dr. Einstein expressed pleasure over the news which he had received unofficially two days before on shipboard. Mrs. Einstein smiled proudly at her husband, the famous exponent of the theory of relativity, and stated that the award was no more than she had expected.

But, according to Mrs. Einstein, her husband's scientific life and his home life are as far apart as the north and south poles. She admits that her husband's theories of relativity, his formulas, his scientific researches mean nothing in her young life.

"No," Mrs. Einstein laughed, "I do not know what his books are all about—but I do not live with the genius, I live with the man. And he is just like other men. He wears holes in his sox, he scatters papers all over the house, drops cigarette ashes on my best rugs, and must have his food cooked just so."

If Einstein's own wife admits that the Fourth Dimension and the Theory of Relativity are beyond her, then there is some hope for the rest of us.

Just before coming over to China last year some one gave me a little book guaranteed to explain relativity so that a child could understand it. I decided to read it carefully.

About the third day out I decided to take a chance with relativity. Why is it that this theory of Einstein's seems to be a direct challenge to every man's intelligence? Anyway a large number of men on the boat seemed to feel that it was up to them to explain that theory; to tell anyone who would listen about the time they met Einstein in Europe or heard him lecture in New York. By the sixth day out I had heard enough about how fast a ray of light travels; how a straight line isn't what geometry teaches you at all; and had the theory explained—relatively speaking—by examples of fast-moving trains, lighted matches, moonbeams and golf clubs—but still I couldn't grasp what it was all about.

I had hoped upon meeting the famous man whose theories have upset the world of science that he would in a few simple, concise, to the point sentences make relativity clear.

But, after meeting Mrs. Einstein and learning she didn't lose any sleep because she couldn't converse in a brilliant manner on relativity—and in fact that she didn't care if she never understood relativity—I decided to remain in the class of the unenlightened. Especially as I couldn't think of even one intelligent leading question to ask the great scientist.

Dr. Einstein, who is a kindly appearing man with laughing brown eyes, must have suspected that I didn't care to attempt to discuss his theories, for he talked of the stars in the southern sky. He spoke of making a few experiments on shipboard which strengthened his belief in the theory of relativity. But Dr. Einstein has not made any additional discoveries.

The Einsteins passed through Shanghai en route to Kobe, where Dr. Einstein will deliver a series of lectures at the Imperial university of Japan. He will return to China and will lecture at the University of Peking, the University of Nanking, and in all probability at St. John's university in Shanghai.

Many Japanese diplomats, newspapermen and officials greeted Dr. Einstein during his short hours in Shanghai. And the winner of the Nobel prize, in his black cutaway suit, with mop of black hair, which is beginning to turn gray, and little black mustache, gave back bow for bow. For the Japanese are the greatest little "bowers" in the world and bow (from the waist down) so constantly during the conversation with a noted visitor, to whom they are striving to be very, very polite, that in a short time the majority of celebrities become winded—but not so Einstein.

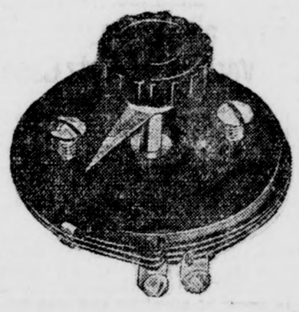
TUNING AND RESONANCE

The Vernier rheostat depicted in the illustration is of the continuously variable type, in which any resistance within its range can be obtained with a single turn of the knob. Contact is made by the lever operating under the resistance wires, which are set in grooves, molded in the bakelite body. An "off" position is provided in accordance with the best practice. The very finest adjustment can be made by the slightest turn of the knob.



RADIO DEVELOPMENT

VERNIER RHEOSTAT

Having traced in previous articles the electrical energy through the transmitter and shown how low frequency alternating current is converted into radio frequency oscillations, also the method of propagating this energy into ether waves, we must now study the phenomenon of resonance, which has well-defined principles and will show us the necessity of placing the open and closed oscillating circuits in "tune" in order that the maximum of energy may be transferred from one to the other. Not only must this be done to obtain a maximum of efficiency but also we may obtain a "pure wave" and thereby conform to the laws and regulations governing radio communication, and previously discussed in these series.

A very pronounced maximum of current in the open or antenna circuit is obtained when its natural period of oscillation is the same as that of the primary circuit. This occurs when the secondary or antenna inductance and capacity equals that of the primary inductance and capacity. The inductance in the antenna circuit includes the antenna itself, the lead in wire the secondary winds of the oscillation transformer, and, if one is used, the additional antenna inductance coil, or as it is also known, the "antenna loading coil." It is important that the wiring between the units in the closed oscillating circuit be as short as possible. Therefore with the leads so short almost all the inductance is in the primary windings of the oscillation transformer; also as the capacity of the condenser in that circuit is large most of the capacitance is contained in that unit. As pointed out in a previous article the condenser unit in this circuit has a fixed value, and the inductance is made variable to provide an easy method of adjustment. The additional inductance or leading coil (if used) and the secondary windings of the oscillation transformer in the open or antenna circuit are invariably made variable.

COLORS IN THE FALL

A desirable tree for brilliant fall color is the sour gum or tupelo. This makes a large almost round-headed tree with very dark green foliage in the summer and brilliant red leaves in the autumn. Even as early as August there may be a few scattered leaves that change color, giving promise of the brilliancy that is to follow. The tree is common in New England and eastern states.

The scarlet oak is even brighter than the red oak in its fall colors and is equally as brilliant as the gums, says the American Forestry Magazine. Its foliage being more finely divided than that of the red oak gives it a lighter, more airy appearance, while the red of its leaves is most emphatic. It is widely distributed throughout the eastern half of the country.

In marked contrast to the brilliant reds of some trees in the fall is the yellow of the sugar or hard maple. This is a native of gravelly and other well-drained soils of the northern states and southward in and near the mountains. It reaches its greatest perfection in western New England, New York, Ohio and Kentucky.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PINE CONES

Uncle Wiggily hopped from his hollow stump bungalow one day and went off in the woods adventuring. The ground was covered with snow, three or four inches deep, enough to make it rather hard for the bunny rabbit to hop and jump along. But Uncle Wiggily didn't mind that.

"It will do me good," he said to himself, twinkling his pink nose. "Exercise is good for my rheumatism, if I don't get my paws wet, and as I have on my overshoes, which Nurse Jane made for me from leaves off the rubber plant, I think my paws will keep dry."

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along through the woods when, as he stopped to rest beneath a big tree he heard a rustling in the branches overhead, and something fell down on his pink nose.

"Bless my lollypops!" cried the bunny. "What's that?"

"Oh, I'm so sorry! Did I hurt you, Uncle Wiggily?" asked a voice and, looking up, Mr. Long-ears saw Mrs. Bushytail, the lady squirrel, mother of Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, sitting on a branch.

Mr. Longears saw Mrs. Bushytail.

"No you didn't hurt me, Mrs. Bushytail," answered Uncle Wiggily. "You just tickled my nose a little with something you dropped. What was it?"

"A bit of pine cone," said the squirrel lady, and she sighed a sad sigh, unhappy like and worried.

"Whatever is the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I hope Johnnie and Billie aren't ill."

"No, they're all right," said Mrs. Bushytail. It is Grandpa Lightfoot who is ailing."

"What, my dear old gentleman squirrel friend?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "What is the matter with Grandpa Lightfoot?"

"Oh, he has the epizootic, so Dr. Possum says," went on Mrs. Bushytail. "And Dr. Possum wants Grandpa Lightfoot to eat the seeds from pine cones to make him get well. But alas! The pine cones I put away for the winter have all spoiled! We don't eat them ourselves unless we get very hungry," exclaimed Mrs. Bushytail, though I always hide some in the hollow tree for Grandpa Lightfoot in case he needs them.

"But just now, after Dr. Possum had gone, I went to the store house in our hollow tree to get out a pine cone or two. I nibbled them to see if they had good seeds in, but they have not. Now Grandpa Lightfoot can't have any pine cones and he won't get well."

"Oh, yes he will!" cried Uncle Wiggily cheerfully.

"How can he when we have no pine cone seeds for him?"

"I'll get him some," offered the bunny.

"How can you when the ground is covered with snow?" asked the squirrel lady. "I know there are pine cones on the ground, but they are covered with snow."

"I'll dig them out," offered Uncle Wiggily. "I'll go find some pine cones for Grandpa Lightfoot."

"It is very kind of you," said Mrs. Bushytail, and as Uncle Wiggily started off along came scampering Johnnie and Billie, the squirrel boys, on their way home from school.

"We'll come and help you dig pine cones under the snow for our Grandpa Lightfoot," they said.

"Come along," invited Uncle Wiggily. On the way Johnnie wanted to know if the long, round scratchy things from the pine tree would turn into ice cream cones on account of being under the snow.

"No, I'm afraid not" said Uncle Wiggily. "But if we get some pine cones for Grandpa Lightfoot, I'll buy some ice cream cones for you boys."

The three friends found a pine tree. The ground beneath it was covered with snow, but with their paws Uncle Wiggily and the squirrel boys scraped the snow away. Then they found, plenty of good pine cones.

But just as they were putting them in their pockets to take to Grandpa Lightfoot along came the bad Bob Cat.

"I want ears to nibble!" howled the Bob Cat.

"Wait!" chattered Johnnie as the Bob Cat was about to catch Uncle Wiggily. "First, Mr. Bob Cat, you must have your nose scratched." Then Johnnie and Billie rubbed the hard, scratchy, prickly pine cones on the soft and tender nose of the Bob Cat.

"Wow! Wow! Wouchie wow!" howled the Bob Cat and away he ran, not nibbling any ears that day.

And when the bunny gentleman and squirrel boys took the pine cones to Grandpa Lightfoot he was soon all well again. So all happened for the best, you see.

And if the nut cracker doesn't take a bite out of the cake of maple sugar when the apple pie isn't looking, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the bottle.

SKETCHED FROM DESCRIPTION OF NEW REGULATION TRACK SUIT TO BE WORN BY ALL ATHLETES COMPETING IN A.A.U. MEETS
WOOD COWAN

Having decided that we have had peace long enough, the A. A. U. has declared war on decollete track suits.

Following great protest by flappers, co-eds and Ziegfeld chorus girls that the average track suit did not cover enough territory, the A. A. U. decided that clubs were trumps and started to use them. This protest against our athletes has extended 'round the world. The abreviated suits worn by U. S. Olympic team members at Antwerp shocked the European audiences to a deep crimson. At a short distance our entries looked like a gang of Greek gods out getting the air. That's hard to believe but European diplomats never lie, so it must be so. Anyway the athletes of the future who compete in an A. A. U. meet will have to use the revised full length skirt and high collar.

Naked arms are barred. Track shirts must have tails and sleeves. The tails aren't insisted upon, however, and they must be securely sewed to the pantaelttes so that they cannot by any chance escape. But the lid is slapped down tight on shirts without sleeves. Pantalettes come longer from this season forth, and full, so no hint of the form can be traced. Neatness is the order of the day. The athlete to come will spend most of his time hanging his nose over a flatiron board putting a razor edge crease in his starched track pants.

Ruffles can be added if desired.

U. S. athletes hold most of the world records. Who can say but that the abbreviated shirt and pants had something to do with it? But what doth it profit an athlete to break the hundred yard record if he is not arrayed in the correct sack suit?

It is rumored that the reform germ has stung a few of our great baseball mag-nuts and that the opening of the season will see a new brand of spiffy uniforms. Red flannel shorts, a-la Bob Shawkey and Joe Bush, will have to be crammed into the old rag bag.

Uniforms must be sent to the cleaners at least once a month.

Imagine Babe Ruth stepping up to the plate arrayed in a high hat or George Sisler stabbing 'em at first in a cutaway! Think of Dempsey crawling through the ropes in a pair of trick knickers and a hard boiled shirt.

And all this, too, right after the triumphant reign of the flapper with her bare knees, corsetless waist line, short skirt and rolling her own—it is to laugh. Ha! Ha! The age of reform is full upon us.

THYE IS WINNER IN TITLE MATCH

Oregon Athlete Flops Sauer In Light Heavyweight Bout at Portland

PORTLAND, Jan. 25.—Ted Thye of Portland won the light heavyweight championship from Peter Sauer here last night after an hour and ten minutes of wrestling.

Sauer was downed after being stunned in a heavy fall at the edge of the mat. Thye kept after his man furiously and four successive times drew his dazed antagonist to the canvas. Sauer was finally floored with a wrist lock and body scissors.

Sauer was unable to continue and the bout was awarded to Thye. He received the belt, emblematic of the lightweight championship. Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City will wrestle Thye here next Wednesday night.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE. PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

There are some folks who, by their writings, would have us believe that the American game of intercollegiate football is on trial for its life. Nothing could be more erroneous. The game is as firmly established as it is possible for a sport to be enshrined in the hearts of both players and public. There may be a few mild and minor reforms needed in the manner in which contests are conducted, but to confuse this with the merits of the game itself suggests a lack of discernment and a lack of knowledge of the subject.

In the first place, however much the faculties of the various institutions of learning may dislike to swallow the pill, the fact remains that to their athletic teams belongs the major credit of making known the institutions by which they are hired to engage in pedagogy. If the thing was simmered down it would probably be found that the professor and the tutor have heart ranklings because the football or athletic coach receives more pay than do they. A man is worth every cent he is able to earn. Nobody is throwing their money to a man for the sake of throwing it. Jack Dempsey, Benny Leonard, Strangler Ed Lewis and some others probably make more money in a year than the President of the United States makes in two or three, but there is no valid reason why any of the gentlemen referred to should beg that their purses be diminished in order to reduce their emoluments.

Educators of broader vision have been free to admit the good qualities of football and no game is likely to go into the discard than can show the references for good character that have been handed football. Let us quote from a talk made by President John Grier Hibben of Princeton university to the members of the varsity football team. In the course of his address he said:

"In the name of your Alma Mater, I wish to give you the expression of our very hearty thanks for all your work for Princeton. I am here to defend intercollegiate football. I believe that one of the reasons why our American young men were able to carry on throughout the war against a foe of greater technical experience was due to their spirit of true sportsmanship, which football so conspicuously develops. I believe also that if in the German universities during the last generation there had been prevalent this spirit of sportsmanship, we would have had a different spirit in the war, and it would have been conducted in a different way. We cannot allow the spirit of sportsmanship to be eliminated from our American universities!"

Those words were uttered on January 14, 1920, and there is every reason to believe that they apply equally to the game today as they did only two short years ago. There is nothing the matter with football. It only is necessary to keep an eye out for the exploiter of the sport. And this goes for all sport.

Glendale Basketball Team Meets Whittier

Glendale American Legion basketball "artists" at 8:15 o'clock tonight will gather at Whittier to do battle with the Whittier American Legion.

"The Peacocks are feeling very cocky and promise to knock the poetical meter for a flock of gas tanks," this morning asserted Charles G. Gibb of 454 West Colorado street. "It is hoped that the support will be heavy. We mean numerically, not by weight. The Glendalian bunch feel that they have some right to be proud as A. G. Wheelon has developed his crew into a real outfit from very meagre beginnings until they are now tied for second place and are going strong."

Glendale rooters are planning to leave their headquarters at 610 East Broadway about 6:45 o'clock tonight. A number of automobiles will be on hand to take those who have no means of transportation. The game will be played at 118 South Washington street, Whittier.

The next game will be played in the boys' gymnasium local high school with Pasadena.

Victims of Theatre's Collapse File Suits

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The first snow of the season here has brought an echo of the Knickerbocker theater disaster wheih occured one year ago next Sunday, killing nearly 100 persons and injuring many more.

The tragedy was revived with the filing of suits aggregating $280,000 by persons who were injured.

CONFERENCE ALL ABOUT NOTHING?

Sports Writer Cannot See Much in Dempsey and Willard Contest

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Conferences on affairs of the fist being more or less the mode at present, there will be one today between Jack Kearns, Mr. Dempsey, Ray Archer and Gene Doyle, sponsors for Jess Willard, the 300 pound shadow chaser.

There is nothing to confer about, Dempsey and Willard being mutually anxious to reap another financial harvest, but the boys must meet and talk it over, if only for the sake of the gentlemen of the press.

Lot About Nothing

The next item on the program of conferences is a grave discussion of nothing in particular between Kearns and Tex Rickard. This will take place tomorrow and when it is all over, the news scavengers will be informed that the proposed bout with Harry Wills received a lengthy and learned consideration. The names of Willard, Floyd Johnson, Tom Gibbons and Luis Firpo will be mentioned casually and informally as indicative of the champion's inclination to run amuck through the heavyweight ranks.

Looks After Butter

If Rickard and Kearns so desired, they could announce their plans right now and thus discontinue all future publicity. They would tell you that, regardless of what various critics may have to say to the contrary, the Dempsey-Willard affair is almost certain to take place in Jersey City on June 30, next.

Kearns may yammer about wanting Wills first, foremost and always, but when it comes to a show-down, he will look to the butter that goes with the bread. If Dempsey should knock Wills for a row of ebony piano keys in a couple of rounds, further sorties against Willard, Johnson and others would die of mal-nutrition. Wills, therefore must await the champion's pleasure, a little joker to this effect having been inserted in the contract Kearns and Paddy Mullins signed last summer.

X-Ray Reveals Ring Swallowed by Thief

BERLIN, Jan. 25. — Two elegantly dressed men the other day entered a jeweler's shop in the Westphalian city of Hagen, asking to have a few first-class rings shown to them. After the jeweller had displayed the goods he suddenly missed one of his most valuable rings.

He had the doors closed and politely asked his visitors to submit to a search, which they readily did, proclaiming their innocence. The search did not yield anything.

In the meantime the jeweller's wife, shrewd and suspicious, had telephoned to the police. Two detectives appeared and resumed the search on professional lines, with the same negative result.

As the jeweller, however, insisted that the ring must have been stolen, and could not but be on the person of one of his two customers, they were taken to a nearby hospital. X-rays disclosed that one of them had surreptitiously swallowed the ring.

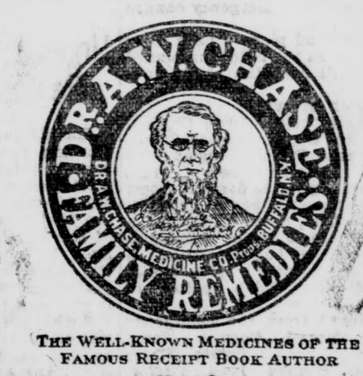
DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND Dr. A.W. Chase's Medicines



THE WELL-KNOWN MEDICINES OF THE FAMOUS RECEIPT BOOK AUTHOR

The druggist is the one family friend and adviser in whom everybody has implicit confidence. No druggist who values his reputation in his neighborhood will recommend any proprietary medicine unless he is absolutely sure it has outstanding merit. It would be business suicide for him to sell and endorse an inferior article. That's why we take great pride in presenting below the sincere opinions of a few of the many thousands of druggists who are now selling and recommending Dr. A. W. Chase's Medicines:

The Vancouver Drug Co., Ltd., Victoria, B. C., writes:
"Dr. Chase's Medicines are always in demand, and there are many repeat orders. There is a reason—Dr. Chase's Medicines are reliable."

Mr. T. T. Beattie, Druggist, 462 Bronson Ave., Ottawa, Ont., writes:
"I always recommend Dr. Chase's Medicines with perfect confidence, as I receive continual evidence that they are splendid result-producers. In particular I have found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills very efficacious. They are among the very best staple sellers and the handling of these goods is highly satisfactory."

Mr. Frank Hyde, Druggist, Woodstock, Ont., writes:
"Among our best selling proprietary medicines, Dr. Chase's have a foremost place. They are necessary in every drug store, so permanent is the demand for them."

Mr. A. P. Chown, Druggist, Kingston, Ont., writes:
"Dr. Chase's Medicines have for many years had a steady sale and give good results and satisfaction."

Macartney's Drug Store, Stratford, Ont., writes:
"The demand for Dr. Chase's Medicines is very steady and in considerable proportion. Our investigation clearly shows that Dr. Chase's Medicines are recognized by the Druggists and the people as staple sellers and reliable medicines."

Mr. Frank J. Hoag, Druggist, Kingston, Ont., writes:
"Having handled the Dr. Chase's line of family medicines for fully twenty-five years, I have no hesitancy in saying that we consider them among our best sellers, as well as most reliable family medicines."

Mr. A. E. DuBerger, Druggist, Sherbrooke, Que., writes:
"I have handled Dr. Chase's lines of medicines for years, and I find that, as proprietary medicines, this line is one of the ones—if not THE one—that gives the most general satisfaction to my customers."

Mr. O. J. Gill, Druggist, Ingersoll, Ont., writes:
"Dr Chase's Medicines have a steady sale with us the year round, and we have always found them to be very reliable medicines."

Mr. E. G. Moxon, Druggist, Truro, N. S., writes:
"For a considerable length of time Dr. Chase's preparations have been one of our staple lines of medicines. Our patrons find them highly reliable and satisfactory. We consider them among the leading sellers and we aim to always keep them for sale."

Mr. C. A. McQuarrie, Druggist, Truro, N. S. writes:
"We have known Chase's Medicines from childhood. Their sales were great then, but greater now, and Chase's goods are among the fastest selling lines. The motto 'Chase's Goods are Good' seems to be upheld throughout their entire line."

Mr. W. D. Mitchell, Druggist, Prince Albert, Sask., writes:
"We have handled Dr. Chase's Medicines for a considerable number of years, and find them one of the most satisfactory staple lines, and among the best sellers. They are easy to sell, and we feel that having made a sale of Dr. Chase's Medicines, we have gained a satisfied customer."

THE HARDEST THING IN THE WORLD

It is a hard thing for a family to have a chronic invalid or a Shut In, about which the routine of family life must be arranged.

Everyone knows that.

But there is another fact which not everyone knows, or at least not everyone realizes.

And that is, that it is five times harder to be that invalid or Shut In.

I wrote the other day about the Shut In who complains bitterly that she can no longer do things for others, and does not realize that she still has the ability to make a very big gift,—to have in her sick room an atmosphere of courage and patience and cheerfulness, instead of resentment and rebellion and depression.

I Scared Myself

And after I wrote it I was afraid. Afraid that those who are well and who read might not realize what a very big achievement that is, and might blame someone who had not been able to achieve it, when they themselves would do no better.

I think it takes more character to achieve patience and cheerfulness under the handicap of sickness and pain than for almost any undertaking in life. Work is an anodyne for most of the other troubles in life, but when you are sick and cannot work you have got to fight your troubles with pure character instead of forgetting them in work.

Such an Invalid Is a Genius

And achieving sufficient character for that fight is surely as great a triumph as painting a picture or writing a book.

No one who has been well for most of his life can possibly know what it is like to be sick and weak and shut off from normal activity and perhaps in pain, and not to see any prospect of release from that condition. It's terrific.

And no one who has not had experience in being sick can realize how much one has to ask from other people when one is helpless, even when one doesn't want to be a burden. People who wait on invalids, and who think those they serve are always asking for something, ought to spend a day in bed now and then themselves, just to see how many things come up that one has to ask another to do if one cannot get out of bed.

The Right to Condemn

And no one who has not himself exhibited, in some way great strength of character has earned the right to condemn the invalid who has not learned to be cheerful and courageous and patient.

If the invalid does not learn this lesson, he will inevitably add to his own burdens. That's the pity of it. One may wish for his own sake, as well as for the sake of others about him, that he would learn. But as for condemning him, — well let only those who have shown rare strength of character cast the first stone. And they won't want to.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

THE GOOD HOUSEKEEPER HAS AN "EMERGENCY SHELF"

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast

Apple Sauce from Dried Apples
Cereal
Coffee Corned Beef Hash
Toast

Luncheon

Grapenuts Baked Dish
Cocoa Cookies

Dinner

Oysters Fried in Bacon-Jackets
Baked Potatoes
Spinach
Coffee Cornstarch Molds

It is an excellent thing for the housekeeper to keep an "Emergency Shelf" in her pantry which is stocked with canned goods enough to make a complete meal. For often an unexpected guest arrives after meal-time and there is nothing left in the larder to offer him; or an unforeseen demand will call the housekeeper away from home, and her husband and children will find such an emergency supply of canned goods a blessing in getting up a picnic meal.

But the emergency shelf is not complete, in its role of friend-in-need, unless accompanied by a set of menus telling how to combine the canned goods it holds. For even the housekeeper herself may become rattled when unexpected guests arrive, and, consequently, waste time trying to think how to best use her emergency canned foods.

It is a good plan to have some such notes as the following pinned to the wall near the emergency shelf:

A lunch or supper from the emergency shelf: Olives, Chicken Salad, Hot Cocoa, Cheesed Crackers, Canned Peaches topped with Melted Marshmallows. (This lunch or supper is derived from: a pot of cheese, a box of unsweetened crackers, a can of peaches, a can of cocoa, a tin of marshmallows, a can of boned chicken, a bottle of prepared Mayonnaise salad dressing and a bottle of olives.)

A dinner from the emergency shelf: Canned Tomato Soup, Canned Tongue, Potato Chips Toasted, Canned Peas, Coffee, Canned Pineapple.

In this little dinner you will, of course, need sugar and condensed milk (or canned evaporated cream) for the coffee—just as you would need the sugar and canned evaporated cream for the cocoa mentioned. I would suggest that you keep such foods as potato chips, crackers, etcetera, in a quart size preserve jar, which is more airtight than the paper boxes that such foods come in.

Of course, these three meals which I have outlined are not ideal meals—not the kind which we would offer unexpected company from choice. But what a comfort it is to have on our emergency shelf three whole meals, complete in themselves, to fall back upon! And then, if we be lucky enough to have on our ordinary supply shelf enough white potatoes to use instead of potato chips; or enough eggs to make an egg dessert in place of the canned pineapple—what a splendid little meal we can get up in a hurry!

Urges U. S., Russia to Restore World Peace

LAUSANNE, Jan. 25.—In a warning to the world that Europe is being plunged into complete economic dissolution, George Tchitcherin, foreign minister in the soviet government and head of the Russian delegation in the Near East peace conference, today advocated that the United States and Russia take the lead in the task of restoration.

Such a move, says the Russian statesman, is the only way to put an end to "such painful events as are now occurring in the Ruhr.

The Glendale

The story of "Hungry Hearts," the great Goldwyn feature now showing at the Glendale theatre, opens across the sea in troubled Europe. The Levin family, scourged by the lash of autocracy, fare forth from their peaceful village to find security in democratic America.

Then, in the turmoil of New York, we see them whirled into the struggle of a new life, striving, yearning, suffering. In the end, Sara, the pretty daughter, falls in love with a young lawyer named David; and, assuring her she is indispensable to his career, he carries her and her family to the suburbs on the wings of his modest success—where once more the little struggling group find the flowers and the fields they love.

A simple, straightforward, moving story of earnest life

The T. D. & L.

"Her Own Money," with Ethel Clayton, which shows at the T. D. and L. theatre today, is a picture that presents a woman of wealth independent from that of her husband, and what she does with it. Her ways of spending "Her Own Money" make a very enjoyable and thought-provoking film.

And tonight is the night scheduled for Manager Ralph Allan to present the big Sidney Franklin preview he has announced. This picture will long be remembered as one worth while, and Glendalians have an opportunity to see it in advance of the world. It is a guaranteed surprise that promises to be the best this enterprising young manager has sprung on his patrons in many a month.

Beginning Monday, Harold Lloyd's "Dr. Jack" is the big show at the T. D. and L. theatre.

CHILD WILL DANCE FOR HARDING

Baby Sylvia Fross, 8-year-old member of the National Stage Service club, will appear at the White House next month in "Cheer Up, America!" in honor of Mrs. Warren G. Harding. Fifteen children compose the cast of the show.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

ANSWERS TO CO RRESPONDENTS

Mrs. R. P.—You will have to have some dental treatments for your pyorrhea. It is a very difficult thing to cure. Research on animals and man is showing more and more that diet has a great deal to do with the condition of the teeth and gums.

Are you getting sufficient green stuffs for your vitamins and essential salts? Two green salads a day are not too much and you could get with benefit the equivalent of a quart of milk a day, for its large amount of calcium and other minerals. Not all of this need to be drunk. You can take some in the form of cheese and custards, on cereals, etc.

"Dear Doctor:

"I am a girl of 15 years, height five feet two inches, and weigh 142 pounds. Will you tell me just what I should eat for breakfast, lunch and dinner in order to reduce? What puzzles me is that you tell the ones who want to gain to eat the same things as you do those who want to lose, so will you please write me and tell me just what I should eat in the morning, afternoon and evening and between meals; just how much candy and just what fruits that would make me reduce rapidly.

"Oh, doctor, please have pity on me and answer this as soon as possible as I am getting so fat that I shall be ridiculous. Any boys that I happen to meet say, 'Gee, but you're fat.' And I cannot bear to hear that from a boy.—J."

Dear girl, it is impossible for me to write individual menus for the class. You can modify our general directions to suit your requirements, I know.

The reason we give approximately the same things to those who are trying to lose as to those who are trying to gain, is because one must have a balanced diet of varied foods to get the elements necessary to maintain health in both cases. Of course those who are trying to gain simply eat more of them.

As you have not yet reached your full growth, you must be sure not to omit in your calories at least a pint and one half of milk. Better a quart. Whole milk is 20 C's an ounce, so a quart would be 640 C's. Skim milk is one-half that number. If you take the whole milk you could omit butter (one level tablespoon 100 C's.) If you take skim milk you should not omit butter for you need the vitamins of the cream.

For your age and height you should weigh from 110 to 115 pounds, so you are 27 pounds overweight. You can see that the boys have a basis for their remarks. A really polite boy would not make such a remark, but boys are not noted for politeness.

While it is perfectly normal and right for you to think of the boys' opinion, I am glad that you want to reduce because you will have better health as well as better looks.

Any work that keeps you on your feet, and active, will give you more exercise and therefore help reduce your weight. If you find that you are losing more than two pounds a week, then you must eat more than the 1200 C's which we advise. As for candy, the best way is to cut it out entirely; but if you find you can't, take 100 to 200 C's for dessert. You can compute its value from the fact that three full cubes of sugar are approximately 100 C's.

There are no fruits nor any foods that are reducing. All foods have energy or caloric value. Fruits for the same weight, because they have much water in them, have less value than concentrated foods. Of fresh fruits two moderate sized apples, a large orange, a small grape fruit, a large pear, all have approximately 100 C's each; while of dried fruits, four good sized prunes; three good sized figs, about one ounce of raisins are 100 C's each.

It is better for you to have fruits or dessert than candy or other rich desserts because they have the vitamins and essential minerals needed.

Raps Congressmen for Neglect of Veterans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A protest against inaction toward fifty-two legislative bills, affecting veterans of the world war, has been made here by the American Legion, through John T. Taylor, its legislative representative. Taylor scored the failure of congressional leaders to form a special committee to handle veterans' legislation.

"It is extremely deplorable," said Taylor in a statement, "it cannot help but create the feeling in the minds of war wrecked soldiers and their families that certain influential members of congress are more interested in retaining their brief authority, than they are in the welfare of those who lost their health in the defense of their country."

San Quentin Convicts Escape in Prison Car

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Jan. 25.—Escaping in a small prison automobile which they commandeered, Thomas Walton, 37, and Seth Burt, 25, serving life terms, are at large despite efforts of a large number of guards and peace officers of the bay district to apprehend them. The two men made their get-away some time between 7 a. m. and noon, their absence not being noted until the noon check. They were trusties and employed about the dining room.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

FROM MY MAIL BAG

A Thankful Reader—Hollows under the eyes have many causes, poor health being the most general one. Build yourself up, get eight to nine hours' sleep a night in a room filled with fresh air, take plenty of outdoor exercise, and have a doctor's examination for blood, liver or kidney trouble.

Creme—Do not use anything as a powder base. Vanishing creams clog the skin and the result is a gummy mixture when combined with powder.

Discouraged Nell—Surely it would not be harmful to fill out the hollow in the neck below the chin. Try massaging the neck with warm cocoa butter.

S. G. S.—Your method of curling the eyelashes is excellent and I shall quote from your letter for the benefit of other readers. As a suggestion, you might produce a more natural effect if you try to curl only the tips.

S. G. S.'s method is as follows: She rubs the lashes first with olive oil, then she takes the blunt edge of a small knife blade or a nail file, holds it over the ashes so as to press them gently against the knife for about one minute. When she opens her eyes the lashes are turned up. This method unfortunately gives only temporary effects.

Anxious Ellena—I know that a great many concerns advertise the fact that their products remove hair permanently. And so they do, but they say nothing about the hair under the skin that grows in again immediately. The electric needle by killing the roots of these hairs is a permanent cure when properly used. I do not know anything about the merits of the home electric apparatus.

Mary C. A.—A good facial surgeon can remove the paraffin that you have so unwisely had injected under your skin. This injection is so delicate and dangerous an operation that I have known only a few cases where it was successful and then merely to fill in those deep wrinkles between the eyes.

M. K. R.—One reason why your skin is muddy is that you've filled it with cream and coated it immediately with powder, the combination forming a gummy mixture that keeps the pores from acting properly. I would advise you to diet, to drink six glasses of water a day, two of them taken hot half an hour before breakfast, and to use cleansing cream on the skin before you wash, washing it out with soap and water.

Thank You—A good cure for black heads is a paste made of laundry starch and cold water rubbed into the skin and allowed to remain on for half an hour every day.

Tomorrow—How to Powder

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

SYMPATHY SHOWN FOR DEAF WOMAN

Plea Made Through Evening News Rouses Interest in Many Quarters

That the deaf resident of Glendale, who made a recent plea of loneliness through the medium of The Glendale Evening News, is to find life a bit brighter is predicted in the many inquiries for her that have come to The News office during the past two or three days.

The most interesting inquiry came from a young deaf and dumb girl who visited The News office yesterday. Although bereft of both her hearing and speech she does not depend solely on writing as a means of communication. Her first question was written, and then, after receiving a piece of paper with the deaf woman's name and address, the girl carried on a conversation by using her lips and watching intently the lips of the one she was talking to. When talking she makes no sound but the words are so perfectly spoken by her lips that she is understood without difficulty.

Others who communicated with The News office with regard to the deaf woman are anxious that she attend the lip reading class meeting at the Glendale Union High school from 2:30 till 4 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Mary L. Rice of Los Angeles.

British Judges Show Lack of Information

LONDON, Jan. 24.—One has to know considerable law to become a judge in England, but apparently there are a lot of other things known to most folks that English judges do not have to know.

The bland querry that recently came from a Tottenham magistrate who wanted to know "Who is Mary Pickford?" is given the palm by those who delight in cherishing examples of judicial "ignorance." Right alongside it is recorded the instance when Sir R. Wallace, K. C., asked "What is the ace of spades?" and caused the card to be brought into court.

Judge Willis, recently deceased, is believed, however, to have held something of a record for unfamiliarity with ordinary human experiences. The learned judge admitted that he had:

Never used a telephone.
Never ridden in a subway.
Never gambled.
Never borrowed money.
Never run in debt.

Bay City Lawyer Will Probe Campaign Fund

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25.—William Kehoe of San Francisco, former state senator from Humboldt county, has been chosen as counsel to conduct the investigation before the senate committee into the campaign expenditures of the various interests who were back of or opposed the direct legislative measures at the last election.

A normal man, as we understand it, is one who thinks Central is holding out on him in pure perversity when she says the line is busy.

Another fault of the times is too much birth control and not enough control of the youngsters after they are born.

AWAITS REPLY TO 'SCHOOL' LETTERS

R. S. Person Says Number Of People Want to Hear 'The Other Side'

Editor The Evening News—A few weeks ago you published a communication from our fellow-townsman, J. C. Sherer, on the subject of the "cost of education," and thereby you placed the local public under reat obligations to your excellent paper. Again (on the 17th inst.) you increased that sense of obligation by publishing another communication on the same general topic from the pen of George B. Woodberry. The publication of these leteers was the performance of a real public service which many of your readers duly appreciate.

Both Mr. Sherer and Mr. Woodberry are broad minded and public spirited citizens, strangers to a parsimonious policy in matters of cost of maintaining our public schools on a high plane of excellence, both stand high in the esteem of the local public, and for these reasons their statements of fact are accepted at their par value, their arguments carry great weight and their conclusions are entitled to high respect.

Awaiting Answer

There are now many residents of Glendale, not informed respecting the historical and financial facts with which Messrs Sherer and Woodberry are on familiar terms, who are truly grateful to these gentlemen for their discussion of the subject to which The News courteously opened its columns.

So far there has been no answer to the statements made by these two men—or either of them. Many of your readers who have been waiting patiently to hear from "the other side" are now beginning to wonder at the prolonged—and profound silence.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL COMPLETED

Wing Property on E. Colorado to Be Subdivided By New Purchasers

Wing street, in honor of Mrs. Wing, the seller. Furthermore, the tract is at the present time bisected transversely by East Maple street, which runs parallel to Colorado. This street has all improvements in.

Comes from Oregon

Benjamin Sheldon and A. G. Smith, who are in partnership on the development of this tract they have purchased, are both well equipped for large scale realty operations. Mr. Sheldon, a recent arrival from Medford, Ore., who served in the Oregon legislature for six years, was an extensive investor in property in that city, and ran very successfully a large pear orchard. Since arriving in California he has been interested in several Los Angeles subdivisions. His latest activities were in connection with the recently-opened Hollywood Country club subdivision.

Mr. Smith, who comes from Phoenix, Ariz., has been in and about Los Angeles for over two years, during which time he has engaged in numerous building enterprises, among them the ten houses on Glendale boulevard at Ivanhoe hill, the apartments at 211 East Lomita avenue, and the apartments at 126 East Elk avenue.

In addition tto an investment of over $100,000 in the Wing acreage, Marvin Smith states, Mr. Sheldon and Mr. Smith will invest approximately $80,000 more in the twenty houses they will immediately build. Consequently, when it is seen that nearly a quarter of a million dollars is involved in the transaction, some idea of its magnitude may be gained. Few deals transacted in Glendale during 1922 exceeded if they equaled the present one, which is an indication of the rapid strides this city is making in the realty direction. And realty is the financial barometer of a city.

Reserves Old Homestead

Maurice Healy, who acted for his mother-in-law in the deal, has reserved for himself the acre at the corner of Colorado street and Sycamore Canyon road, as this acre contains the old homestead where Dr. and Mrs. Wing settled thirty-four years ago, when they bought the property.

Mr. Healy's stipulation that he retain full possession of the entire acreage until after the present orange crop is picked and shipped, gives a colorful glimpse into the past—for the Wings bought the property in 1889 with the idea of developing it into an orange ranch, never imagining it would one day become choice residential property close to the heart of a great city as then undreamed.

Indeed, the Wings at one time owned forty acres, including the property to the north and east of East Colorado street, as well as East Colorado itself. This they gave to the city, many years ago, when Glendale first began to develop.

Such is the story of the past that the old deeds and documents now in escrow could tell, a story of a Glendale that is gone forever, except as the written word here and there records a trace of it.

A far different story will soon be told by the subdividers, Mr. Sheldon and Mr. Smith. The page is turned. A new chapter is about to be written. The pen is dipped in the magic ink in which all of the modern history of Glendale is being written. The hand writes. Close-in lots for those from all over America who come flocking to California, and to Glendale.

Government Control of Mines Urged in Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Government control and operation of coal mines whenever labor troubles or other disturbances threaten the country's fuel supply was proposed in a bill introduced in the senate this afternoon by Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Republican of Iowa.

COMMUNITY ART CENTER IS PLAN

Form Association to Secure La Ramada for Use of Colony of Artists

Verdugo Park and Art Association, now launched, will continue, whether or not we are fortunate enough to secure La Ramada for its home. We purpose having the people of this city better acquainted with art, and to that end will give public exhibits of art work in Glendale, monthly, from now on, somewhere, somehow. For we believe that where art, music and literature flourish, there is to be found the highest type of civilization. And we know that the elements are at our disposal for making Glendale all that Carmel by the Sea is, and more.

Good Advertising

"As an advertising medium, alone, such a development in Glendale would be worth dollars for cents on its cost. But we believe there is something in the life of an individual, above mere gain. We want that something here in Glendale, and we purpose having it."

It was decided at last night's meeting that the association would meet at La Ramada, on the first and third Sundays of each month, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, until further notice. One of these meetings, each month, will be public and in the nature of a lecture the idea being to stimulate a better understanding of art in Glendale.

As one of the features of the Casa Verdugo Park and Art Association will be a continuous exhibit of paintings, sculpture and etchings, changed monthly. It was agreed that a jury of three artists be appointed at the proper time, to agree on all works of art exhibited.

Plan Art Library

In the event that the old adobe becomes the property of the association, it is planned to use one of the small rooms as an art library, where books of national repute, interesting to various types of mind from children to adults, will be kept available for use. And teachers will be encouraged to bring their classes to the adobe monthly, to study and enjoy the exhibits.

It is felt by the association that although Glendale has not the sea, it has the mountains to make it equally as great as Carmel by the Sea. Carmel was started, some years back, by a group of artists and civic workers, in much the same way that the present movement is being launched—the only difference being that Carmel was not a city to begin with. Glendale, in this respect, has all the advantage, and it is felt that the movement should grow fast and make this city known wherever art is known—and that is all over the world.

SIGN CONTRACTS FOR TWO HOMES

Eager Home Seekers Summon Builder at Night to Sign Agreement

"It pays to advertise" is the opinion voiced by S. S. Beran of 305 South Brand boulevard, in stating that he signed two contracts yesterday afternoon after an unusual hard day interviewing the dozens of prospects who came in to look things over.

Mr. Beran left his office for home and for a rest, but to his surprise at 9 o'clock sharp, when he was thinking seriously of "rolling in," some one tapped on the door asking where Mr. Beran the contractor lived.

The parties insisted that they just had to see the plans that night. Mr. Beran took them to his office at 10 o'clock and signed them up.

The party who was so anxious was Miss Lily Richardson, daughter of Dr. Richardson, a dentist.

Busy Year Ahead

Mr. Beran says by all indications this year will exceed all previous years in building. He adds that he has had to hire a full new crew on account of the unexpected increase in building. "I expected results" he says, "but not such unusual results. I have been given the promise of four more contracts by parties who are making every effort to arrange finances for building."

The Beran company recently completed a two story Spanish stucco building with apartments above in Edendale for Dr. M. B. Ketchum, who resides in Glendale.

WITNESS ACCUSES HOODED SLAYERS

'Black Masks' Tossed Victims' Bodies Into Lake, Farmer Swears

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

BASTROP, La., Jan. 25.—The black masks of Morehouse parish charged with the murder of Watt Daniel and Thomas F. Richards, were literally brought face to face with their chief accuser this morning when Leon L. Jones, a Mississippi farmer, took the stand at the "hooded mob" investigation.

Jones openly charged the "black masks" had tossed the mangled bodies of their victims into Lake La Fourche. The crowded court-room hung breathlessly on his words.

The open hearing was formally ended a few minutes after the attorney-general concluded a statement blaming the Ku Klux Klan for lawlessness in the parish. Judge Fred L. Odom, who presided, declared the investigation indefinitely adjourned, pending call of the court.

Goes to Grand Jury

Although the investigation ends today, it may be opened at any time. State authorities, however, will confine their future prosecution of "black masks" to the grand jury proceedings or special "information" cases, unless some unusual development occurs. The grand jury investigation will not start until all evidence taken at the open hearing has been prepared in brief form. This may take four weeks or more, probably throwing the investigation before the new parish grand jury which convenes March 1.

Claim Man Pronounced Dead Only in a Trance

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 25.—Although declared dead by attending physicians, members of the family of George W. Stevenson, former Californian, are keeping a constant vigil at his bedside today, expecting him to show signs of life. They firmly believe his case is one of suspended animation and that Mr. Stevenson will awaken in a day or two from what they think is a deep sleep resembling death.

Orders for an inquest have been delayed by Coroner Fred C. Bolen in deference to the wishes of the family, who objected to the proposed action as being unnecessary.

Film Star's Brother Is Victim of Stroke

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—Stricken with paralysis, John Fairbanks, brother of Douglas Fairbanks, was in a critical condition today at his Hollywood home with two physicians in constant attendance.

Mr. Fairbanks is not expected to reach the crisis of his illness for another twenty-four hours. His brothers, Douglas and Robert, were summoned to his bedside yesterday immediately after he was taken ill. Physicians announced the stroke followed a complete nervous collapse, brought on by over-work. Mr. Fairbanks is general manager for the Douglas Fairbanks Picture corporation.

Blame Costly College Blaze on Bad Wiring

LIBERTY, Mo., Jan. 25.—Hundreds of text and reference books were destroyed in a fire which caused an approximate damage of $60,000 to the Carnegie library of William Jewell college here today.

Student members of one of the school's fraternities, who were in the midst of initiation ceremonies, discovered flames leaping from the roof and turned in an alarm.

Members of the faculty stated the blaze was caused by defective wiring.

Police Compute Fire Damages at $275,000

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.—Damage estimated by police at $275,000 was caused today by fire in the Tulane endowment of the under-group of buildings in the heart of the city, which was spread by three mysterious explosions in a loft supposed to have been fireproof. Several persons, including two firemen and a Catholic sexton, were slightly injured.

STOCKS, MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The stock market was strong in the late dealings today, many issues being in good demand. Mallinson rose 2 points and California Petroleum turned active and strong and rose over 2 points. U. S. Steel again crossed 106.

The railroad shares were again in demand.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds were irregular.

Grain News Bearish

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—News in the grain trade was all bearish. The market opened with only slight change in price from the previous close, immediately turned weak, then slid off into a sharp decline and subsequently recovered.

Wheat closed ⅛c higher to ¼c lower; corn ¼c higher and oats ⅛ to ¼ lower. Lard and short ribs closed weak.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Why Price of Gasoline? Extra Dry, Is Forecast Too Much North, Claim Jail Sentence Is Help

By Gil A. Cowan

WHILE the senate is entertaining an inquisition over campaign expenses, the assembly of the California legislature would like to find out why the price of gasoline is "as is" in the face of marked reductions in the price of crude oil.

Indeed, it is interesting to observe that the so-called gasoline shortages disappear with higher prices and consumption increases. Also, it is interesting to pay anywhere from 16 to 25 cents a gallon for gas on the same highway in the same state within a radius of 150 miles.

In other words, there must be something rotten about the business that apparently is so stable and yet so unstable. Price fixing in almost every line of industry is recognized, but there should be some consistency in the oil companies' program.

Perhaps Assemblyman Dawson of Los Angeles will get his investigation going and give the public some facts it would like to know—or is the public caring a continental whether gasoline goes up or down just so Lizzie runs right along?

Interesting to note how Senator Borah of Idaho occupies the headlines of the newspapers. He is going to get in Dutch with the French if he doesn't look out. He says their occupation of the Ruhr is contrary to the treaty of Versailles and urges the United States to protest.

But, if it is necessary for America to put its feet on foreign soil in order to open its mouth on the subject, let silence reign. Senator Borah might do a Clemenceau and go to Paris for his vacation where he will have a buy a newspaper to get his speeches printed.

Slowly but surely the wheels of justice in Louisiana are moving in a direction that will take the teeth out of klan-ridden Morehouse parish.

The indictment of twenty is but a starter in the murder of Richard and Daniels, the lion-hearted, who defied super-government unto death.

Super-government is a thing of dark ages. The law of fear has been replaced by education and enlightenment.

Los Angeles should enjoy some extra-dry weather with Federal Prohibition Enforcement Chief Roy Haynes as the city's guest.

As soon as he left the north it got very wet, the rain making it so moist that prescriptions were necessary for damp tootsies.

The dry chief has some interesting information on the dope evil, but more action and less talk will be appreciated.

As usual, Mr. Haynes holds it will take ten years to prove the value of the Volstead act. Perhaps time will tell, but bootleggers are being born faster than prohibition officers are appointed.

Earth tremors in northern California are recorded. But did you notice the dispatches said nothing about the film workers fleeing to the streets in negligee and such bunk as is broadcast when southern California shivers?

Truly, the influence over news and legislation at San Francisco is abominable. If you knew the north as I have found it, there would be little to say other than Los Angeles should never stop until it gets everything which its enterprise and spirit merit.

That applies to apportionment as well as other subjects.

Glendale should know these facts.

Fines failed to stop speeding in Los Angeles, but jail sentences proved a deterrent, although some mighty well meaning people were put behind the bars.

Likewise, some of our best citizens will be enmeshed in any wholesale cleanup of the booze business, but there is no reason why they are immune from the law while at the same time this state is sending I. W. W. members to prison.

The latter brew anarchy, to be sure, but any violation of the law does the same. That is the reason for vigilante raids in Arkansas; that is the excuse offered by the Ku Klux Klan; that is the root of evil among the younger generation.

Perhaps it is too much law and not enough discipline. Yet, whatever is wrong, it can always be righted in this republic of ours.

Courtesy pays. The postoffice department has made that discovery. In Sacramento there is a sign on the door of the federal building: "If you have not been treated courteously tell the postmaster."

That sign insures courtesy. The employes of the office meet you with a smile and nothing is left undone to make you satisfied. That is a good rule for any business, be it in penny postage stamps or pianos.

It is nothing more or less than the application of the golden rule. All of which might be used by nations in working out their difficulties if they only would.

LOCAL PYTHIANS TO STAGE DRAMA

Play Symbolic of Order's Teachings to Be Given By Noted Actor

"Damon of Pythias" will be revived tonight by Newton Beers at 103-A West Park avenue under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias.

The entire drama of "Damon and Pythias" will be enacted by Newton Beers, who has acquired considerable reputation as a monodramatist.

According to Emil Fram of 348 West Windsor road, the fraternal order of the Knights of Pythias is based upon the undying friendship of Damon and Pythias.

Several vaudeville specialties will follow the monodrama and the evening will conclude with a dance at which ryhthm will be furnished by A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club Orchestra.

The committee, which has charge of this entertainment, consists of Atty. George H. King, E. S. Melzer, M. J. Edwards and F. E. Peters.
